Wise, Super-Wise
and Otherwise

Railroad Needs Coal at Holbrook.
Acting Chairman Michael H. Sullivan, of the Boston School Committee, who after being given to understand that the New Haven Railroad had 500,000 tons of coal piled at Holbrook, asked Director General McAdoo at Washington to take some steps so that part of the "supply" might be diverted to the Boston public schools, received word from Mr. McAdoo that the committee cannot have any more coal from this reserve.

Police Dogs Guard Plant at Plymouth.
Plymouth, Feb. 2.—With the increased guard at the plant of the Plymouth Cordage Co. made necessary because of the belief that enemy aliens may seek to hinder government work, three police dogs have been put on the job. All of them are trained for the work. One is a Belgian and the others are Airedales.
Those having destructive designs on the plant may find it harder to evade the dogs than human guards.

A correspondent of the New York Sun, one who by inference is bowing to the fuel-saving crusade with but ill grace, suggests this addition to the dialectic of current phrases: "To garfield, verb, passive (let us hope transitive);
to abstain from earning a living while inefficient officials seek to cover up the tracks of their inefficiency." All in favor of the suggestion will please say
"Aye." It appears to be unanimous.— Brockton Enterprise.

11-Year-Old Boy Knits Sweater.
The Brockton Red Cross is much pleased with the fact that a sweater was knit by Robert P. Bostock, 11 years old, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bostock of 330 Ash street. Yarn was given to his mother, who found that she could not take the time, and her son volunteered for the task, knitting a garment that might be the envy of older knitters.

HULL ASKS RIGHT TO TAX PARKS.

Thomas H. Buttner, town counsel for Hull, argued Wednesday before the Legislative Committee on Metropolitan Affairs for a bill authorizing that town to tax for local purposes property within its borders owned by the Metropolitan Park Commission and used by them for recreational purposes.

He said that the town not only loses taxes on the property, but that it also paid its share of the Metropolitan Park expenses.

George S. Rogers, secretary of the Metropolitan Park Commission, who opposed the proposition, pointed out that Hull is relieved under present conditions of the expenditures for which taxes are levied, as the commission maintains both a Fire and Police Department in the region about the reservation.

The relief from expenditures is small compared with loss of taxable property to the town is the opinion of the majority. The town has to maintain a police and fire department and could cover that small territory with but slight added expense, is the contention of the town.

London's Valuation.
The total value of the city of London's square mile is estimated at about $1,250,000,000.

THE UNIVERSAL CAR

The prices now Chassis, Touring Cars and Runabouts have not advanced—but how long the present prices continue we cannot say.

Buy your car NOW—when reasonable delivery is possible on all models excepting enclosed types. Later on lack of material and other abnormal conditions may bring a recurrence of long delays in obtaining cars.

BUY NOW—IMMEDIATELY—Even if you do not intend to use the car until spring, and insure yourself against tedious and perhaps expensive waiting at a time when you will want the car and cannot get it.
If you intend purchasing a FORD CAR within the next twelve months, place your order and take delivery as soon as possible.

"A Ford in use is worth two on order."

FEDERAL INCOME TAX IN BRIEF

TAX IN BRIEF

The Requirements Boiled Down for Busy Bay Staters

Returns must be filed on or before March 1st, 1918.

Tax due may be paid now or on or before June 15th, 1918.

If you were single and your net income for 1917 was $1000 or more,
you must file a return.

If you were married and living with wife (or husband) and had a net income for $2000 or more for 1917, you must file a return.

Husband's and wife's income must be considered jointly, plus income of minor children.

Income of a minor or incompetent, derived from a separate estate, must be reported by his legal representative.

Severe penalties are provided for those who neglect or evade the law.

For false or fraudulent return,
there is a penalty not exceeding $2000 fine or year's imprisonment, or both plus 100 per cent of tax.

For failure to make return on or before March 1st, 1918, fine is from $20 to $1000 plus 50% of tax due.

Returns must be filed with the Collector of Internal Revenue of district in which you live.

An agent may file return for a person who is ill, absent from the country, or otherwise incapacitated.

Each return must be signed and sworn or affirmed by person executing it.

Single persons are allowed $1000 exemption in computing normal tax.

A married person living with wife (or husband) is allowed $2000 exemption, plus $200 for each dependent child under 18.

A head of family, though single, is allowed $2000 exemption, if actually supporting one or more relatives.

Returns must show the entire amount of earnings, gains, and profits received during the year.

Officials and employees are not taxable on the salaries or wages received from state, county, city, or town in the United States.

Interest on state and municipal bonds issued within the U. S. is exempt from Federal income tax,
but should be omitted.

Interest on United States government bonds is also exempt, except individual holdings of Liberty bonds in excess of $5000 par value.

Dividends are not subject to normal tax, but must be reported and figured in net income.

Gifts and legacies are not income, but should not be included on the part of the beneficiary.

Insurance received as a beneficiary or as premiums paid back at maturity or surrender of policy is not income.

Payments received for real or personal property sold is not income, but the profit realized thereon is income for the year of sale.

Amounts received in payment of notes or mortgages is not income, but the interest on such notes or mortgages is taxable income.

From the entire gross income, certain allowances are made in arriving at the net income.

Necessary expenses actually paid
in the conduct of a business, trade or profession, may be claimed.

A farmer can claim payments for labor, seed, fertilizer, stock-feed;
repairs on buildings except his dwelling; repairs of fences and farm machinery; materials and small tools for immediate use.

The amount of rent paid for a farm may also be claimed as a tenant farmer's expense.

Payments for live-stock are allowable, bought for resale. But if bought for breeding purposes, cattle are an investment, not an expense, and cannot be allowed.

A stockkeeper can claim amounts paid for advertising, clerk-hire, telephone, water, light and fuel and cost of drayage and freight bills, and cost of repairing and repairing wagons and trucks.

A physician can claim cost of his professional supplies, rent, office help, telephone, expense of team or automobile used in making professional calls, and expenses attending medical conventions.

A dentist can claim similar items, except team or auto expense, which are not necessary in his profession.

Expenses that are personal, or connected in any way with the support or well-being of a person or family, are not allowable.

The costs of machines, instruments, vehicles or implements that are more or less permanent in character, are not allowable as an expense. They are investments.

Interest paid on a mortgage or other personal indebtedness is allowable on a personal return.

All taxes paid within the year can be taken out on a Federal return,

except Federal Income Taxes, inheritance taxes and assessments for local improvements.

S. A. S. A. P. HULL BRANCH

As has been stated in last week's issue, the annual meeting of the Hull Branch, S. A. S. A. P., was held at the Damon School last week Tuesday for the purpose of reorganization more in accordance with the State organizations.

Mrs. John E. Campbell, chairman, presided and read a report, which was the joint annual report of the secretary and treasurer. This report was accepted with thanks and placed in the records. The treasurer, not knowing that it was the annual meeting, gave only a report of a month's work, which was approved. It was voted that the treasurer be given time to make an annual report.

Necessary expenses actually paid
in the conduct of a business, trade or

yard Ivy's father stepped up to him. "Mr. Trumbull," he said sternly. "I don't know what you have said or done to hurt my girl's feelings, but you'll either mend them or stay away from here after this."

Rodney made one final but unsuccessful effort to reach Ivy. He went to the office of a cousin of hers, who called Ivy up on the telephone and then passed the receiver to Rodney.

"It's me, Ivy," began Rodney, tumultuously. "And I want to explain—"

The air became void. Ivy had hung up the receiver.

Rodney walked aimlessly in the direction of the river. He sat down on a fallen tree and stared gloomily at the bubbling waters. A shadow caused him to look up. The old siren-like, half scornful smile habited with her upon her lips, Miss Lisle addressed him.

"And why are you so engrossed in deep meditation, my loyal knight errant," she glided.

"I was thinking of jumping into the river and ending it all," bluntly declared Rodney.

"Ending what?"

"My cowardice, my wretched poltroonry!" he blazed forth. "It was all a mistake. My kissing you."

"I know," calmly pronounced Miss Lisle. "Listen, my friend; I am going to leave Brocton for my city home tomorrow. You shall be free from the local service I have so cruelly commanded. I fear I am a heartless jade and coquetry my bane. In the sun

they were old, humble, but heartsome people of the old-fashioned kind, simple in their lives, and love and friendship were exemplified as natural, earnest emotions, devoid of guile. The young folks had their social gatherings, parties, barn dances and husking bees, custom and mild superstitions, like Hallowe'en festivity lending a charm to especial occasions. Quite in the course of events each Darby found his Joan, and at last Rodney Trumbull was sure he had discovered his.

There was not a sweater or prettier girl in Rockton than Ivy Lane, and Rodney had known her for about a year. The parents of both smiled indulgently upon the manifest mutual sentiments of the couple. Rodney regarded Ivy as being ethereal. He was so imbued with a sense of her priceless perfection that he grew ashamed when he dared to hope he was to gain the love of this peerless creature, naturally of a shy nature, he had made little progress in his lovemaking.

There was to be a party at the home of Ivy, and about a week before that Rodney knew her home from a church social. As they were about to part at the garden gate he mustered up the courage to disclose what had been urgently upon his mind for many hours. "Ivy," he said, "when I come to the party at your house next Wednesday, I want you to accept a little keepsake from me. Will you?"

"But you gave me a lovely bouquet of roses only yesterday and—"

"But this isn't roses. I want to give you a ring."

"Oh, Rodney—shocking!" laughed Ivy.

"It's coming from the city, where I have ordered it, and if you will only wear it on your engagement finger—"

"There is mother calling. Good night, Rodney," and Ivy flitted away, probably happier than she had ever been in her life.

"She did not say she wouldn't accept the ring," breathed Rodney courageously, and counted the hours till the arrival of the evening party. Ivy received him with a gracious smile that set every nerve tingling, but she was the hostess of the evening she could give him no further exclusive attention. A Miss Lisle fell to his char, partly through the efforts of the young lady in question to make it so, and in all courtesy Rodney found himself seated as partner and escort for the occasion to that flashing beauty from city, temporarily visiting a married sister in Rockton.

Miss Lisle was a siren in a wild way. While she despised what she termed the crude social ways of Rockton, she set herself up as a despoil flirt, and had half the girls by the ears because of her audacious application of their beaux. Now it seemed that she had set about the conquest of Ivy's poor lone lamb, who, although thus singled out by the brilliancy of her beauty, longed only for the moment's sweet converse with the real idol of his heart.

Miss Lisle was a siren in a wild way. Now it seemed that she had set about the conquest of Ivy's poor lone lamb, who, although thus singled out by the brilliancy of her beauty, longed only for the moment's sweet converse with the real idol of his heart.

At last Rodney, watching his chance, saw Ivy dart through the doorway of a darkened wing room to reach the front hall as there were some arrivals. Rodney hastened into the unit apartment. He clutched an escaping figure.

"The ring!" he whispered ardently.

"Here it is. You will make me so happy to wear it on your engagement finger."

The yielding form fluttered in his arms.

"You—you wouldn't kiss me, would you?" he added in wild desperation.

A pair of lips met his own. He seemed in paradise. Voices neared.

They parted precipitately. Rodney hastened back to a crowded room and sank to a chair, feeling as if he had been won. He was in such a state of rhapsody that he wished to be alone. He looked up at Ivy, and smiled at her. She seemed to turn her back on him. She was speaking to Miss Lisle, who was animatedly flourishing a ring on her engagement finger, and glancing knowingly in the direction of Rodney.

The latter was crushed. He realized the truth in a flash. He had not met and kissed Ivy in the dark, but oh! fatal blunder, Miss Lisle. She came toward him now in her ardent way of gracefulness.

"I have just been telling our dear mutual friend, Miss Lane, of your pretty present," she said. "And oh! Mr. Trumbull I promised later to be home by eleven, and it is now nearly midnight. Won't you go to my wraps," and almost without realizing it Rodney was hustled out of the house and Miss Lisle was languishly hanging on his arm, prating pretty nothing in the mellow moonlight.

He hated himself as an arrant coward as he left Miss Lisle at the door of her sister's home. She was a flushed flame of coquetry, she plainly considered that they were engaged, she insisted on his joining herself and her friends in an auto drive the next afternoon.

"I will tell her plainly of the error she is laboring under. And I must see Ivy!" resolved Rodney. But when he rang at the door bell of the Lane home the next day, Mrs. Lane received him coldly and stated that Ivy was indisposed. As Rodney went out of the yard Ivy's father stepped up to him.

"Mr. Trumbull," he said sternly. "I don't know what you have said or done to hurt my girl's feelings, but you'll either mend them or stay away from here after this."

Rodney regarded Ivy as being ethereal. He was so imbued with a sense of her priceless perfection that he grew ashamed when he dared to hope he was to gain the love of this peerless creature, naturally of a shy nature, he had made little progress in his lovemaking.

There was to be a party at the home of Ivy, and about a week before that Rodney knew her home from a church social. As they were about to part at the garden gate he mustered up the courage to disclose what had been urgently upon his mind for many hours. "Ivy," he said, "when I come to the party at your house next Wednesday, I want you to accept a little keepsake from me. Will you?"

"But you gave me a lovely bouquet of roses only yesterday and—"

"But this isn't roses. I want to give you a ring."

"Oh, Rodney—shocking!" laughed Ivy.

"It's coming from the city, where I have ordered it, and if you will only wear it on your engagement finger—"

"There is mother calling. Good night, Rodney," and Ivy flitted away, probably happier than she had ever been in her life.

"I know," calmly pronounced Miss Lisle. "Listen, my friend; I am going to leave Brocton for my city home tomorrow. You shall be free from the local service I have so cruelly commanded. I fear I am a heartless jade and coquetry my bane. In the sun

Quite in the course of events each Darby found his Joan, and at last Rodney Trumbull was sure he had discovered his.

DOCTOR URGED AN OPERATION

Instead I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Was Cured.

Baltimore, Md.—"Nearly four years I suffered from ovarian troubles, nervousness and headaches and every month would have to stay in bed most of the time. Treatments would relieve me for a time but my doctor was always urging me to have an operation. My sister asked me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound before consenting to an operation. I took five bottles of it and it has completely cured me and my work is a pleasure. I tell all my friends who have any trouble of this kind what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me."—NELLIE R. BRITTINGHAM, 609 Calverton Rd., Baltimore, Md.

It is only natural for any woman to dread the thought of an operation. So many women have been restored to health by this famous remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, after an operation has been advised that it will pay any woman who suffers from such ailments to consider trying it before submitting to such a trying ordeal.

Had Kidney Trouble From Childhood and Was Discouraged. Doan's, However, Brought Health and Strength.

Mrs. C. Anderson, 4104 W. 23rd St., Chicago, Ill., says: "I had kidney trouble from childhood and three years ago a severe spell developed. If I stooped, a terrible pain took me in the small of my back, and for several minutes I couldn't straighten. Often at night the pain in my back was so bad I had to prop myself up with a pillow. I seemed as if my back would break. Watery sputum formed under my eyes and my feet were so swollen I had to wear slippers. sudden dizzy spells came on and pains in my head drove me almost frantic.

"I felt tired and weak and had hardly enough ambition to move. Nothing seemed to help me and I was discouraged until I commenced taking Doan's Kidney Pill. This cured me completely and my health has been of the best ever since. Doan's surely deserves my endorsement."—Sworn to before me,

The Comforter

A Story of President Lincoln
Founded on Fact

By F. A. MITCHEL

When the great struggle between the Northern and Southern states came on Allan Fitz Hugh, twelve years old, was at school in Virginia. He was a boy of delicate physique, but was full of fire, and, hearing that Abraham Lincoln was coming southward at the head of an armed force, was much troubled because he was too young to shoulder a musket and repel the invader. He found it difficult during those exciting times to attend to his studies, and had it not been for the influence of his mother, whom he dearly loved, he could not have been kept at school at all.

In those days the passion attending war ran high on both sides. The songs, the gibes, the speeches and what was written concerning the great struggle were very bitter and usually far from the truth. In the North it was "We'll hang Jeff Davis on a sour apple tree," and in the South President Lincoln was called "the baboon." The Northern schoolboy conceived the idea that President Davis was an ogre, not realizing that he was an educated gentleman, had commanded a regiment of United States troops in the war with Mexico, had been a United States senator and secretary of war. The Southern schoolboy considered President Lincoln a wild man from the Western woods who delighted in bloodshed. Children whose minds are not developed must concentrate upon one head in any movement in which they are interested. So Allan's thoughts dwelt upon Mr. Lincoln, embodying the great president with his idea of the hated "yankies."

When Allan was fifteen he begged his mother to let him go to fight for the Confederacy. Naturally she clung to her son, and the matter was compromised between them in this wise: If the war was not over in another year Allan was to enlist with his mother's consent. Many boys of his age, both in the North and in the South, broke away from parental restraint and enlisted without permission. Food for powder was in demand, and the recruiting officers often winked at the fact that the recruits were under age. But Allan was his mother's only child, and, being of an extremely affectionate disposition, the bond between them was doubly strong.

So Allan continued at his studies, though he read more about the battles that were being fought than the subjects treated in his textbooks. He lived in Richmond, and at one time had listened to the roar of the cannon during the seven days' battle that had been fought between Lee and McClellan. His admiration for soldiers wore away some of his bitterness against the federal generals, but President Lincoln was still the embodiment of his repugnance for the Northern people. The two heads—Davis of the Confederacy and Lincoln of the federal Union—throughout the war continued to represent the bitter antagonism felt by either side.

In the early spring of 1865 Allan Fitz Hugh came to be sixteen years of age, and his mother reluctantly consented to his doing his part to fill the gaps in the Southern ranks made by Northern casualties. When the time came for him to leave his mother he was seized with a foreboding that he would not see her again. It is questionable which suffered the more at parting, mother or son.

Allan enlisted in time to take part in one of the last battles of the war. He saw a dark line of blue on the edge of a wood behind earthworks. With the Confederate line of battle he moved toward it. Suddenly a storm burst in his face. He felt himself collapse and sank down on the ground.

His companions in arms went on, but were soon driven back and over him, leaving him there with a stream of blood flowing from his side.

Later he was picked up by a federal ambulance corps and placed on a stretcher. He held himself to be dying, and, oh, how terrible not to be able to bid his mother good-by!

1809—Born in Hardin county, Kentucky, February 12. He was descended from a Quaker family which had emigrated from Virginia about 1780.

Removed with his family to Kentucky to Indiana.

1811—Removed to Illinois, where during the next few years he followed various occupations, including those of a farm laborer, a shanty and a surveyor.

1812—Admitted to the bar and began his practice of law in Springfield.

1842—Served as a captain and afterward as a private in the Black Hawk war.

1844—Elected to the Illinois legislature a Whig and served eight years.

1847—Elected to congress on the Whig ticket.

1858—A Republican candidate for the United States senate he engaged in a series of joint debates throughout Illinois with the Democratic candidate, Stephen A. Douglas.

1861—Elected president of the United States on the Republican ticket, the division of the Democratic party giving him an easy victory.

1861—On April 15, two days after the fall of Fort Sumter, he issued a call for 75,000 volunteers, and the coming of events passed from the cabin to the camp.

1861—April 19, proclaimed a blockade of Southern ports.

1862—September 22, issued a proclamation emancipating all slaves in states or parts of states, which should be in rebellion on January 1, 1863.

1864—Re-elected president by the Republican party, defeating Gen. B. McClellan, candidate of the Democratic party.

1865—Entered Richmond with the Federal army on April 4, two days after that city had been evacuated by the Confederates.

1865—Shot by John Wilkes Booth on April 14, and died the following day. Buried at Springfield, Ill.

What Can I Do for You, My Boy?

"Mother!" he cried. "Oh, mother!"

A tall, spare man in citizen's apparel heard the call and directed the carrier to put down the stretcher and kneeling beside it, asked tenderly:

"What can I do for you, my boy?"

"You are a Yankee. You will do nothing for me. I wish to send a message to my mother, but it will never reach her."

"GIVE me your message, and I promise you that I will send it for you."

The next morning Mrs. Fitz Hugh heard of the battle and knew that her son had been in it. While she was wondering what might have been his fate the recruits were under age. But Allan was his mother's only child, and, being of an extremely affectionate disposition, the bond between them was doubly strong.

So Allan continued at his studies, though he read more about the battles that were being fought than the subjects treated in his textbooks. He lived in Richmond, and at one time had listened to the roar of the cannon during the seven days' battle that had been fought between Lee and McClellan. His admiration for soldiers wore away some of his bitterness against the federal generals, but President Lincoln was still the embodiment of his repugnance for the Northern people.

The two heads—Davis of the Confederacy and Lincoln of the federal Union—throughout the war continued to represent the bitter antagonism felt by either side.

Starting for the front at once, the anxious mother succeeded in bringing her boy home. He hovered for a time between life and death, then grew slowly to recover. Not long after this Richmond was evacuated by the Confederates, and President Lincoln went down there from Washington. When he was riding through the streets on which the Fitz Hughs lived Allan was propped up in an easy chair on pillows, and his mother pointed out Mr. Lincoln to him.

"Oh, mother!" exclaimed the boy. "What is it, Allan?"

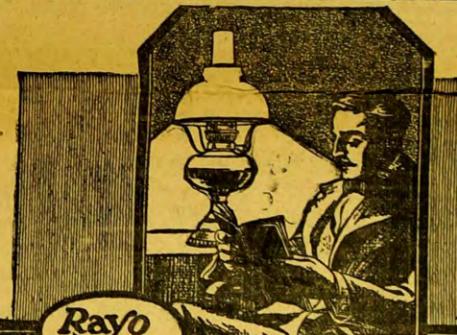

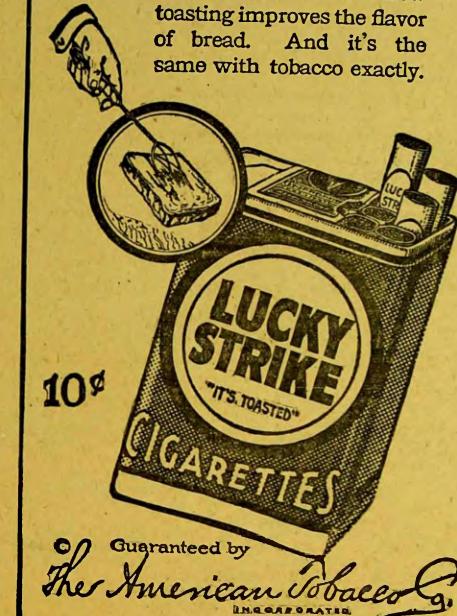

"He's the man who comforted me when I was carried off that dreadful battlefield, and he sent you my message."

Mr. Lot Elmer Bates has bought Rev. Frank R. McAllister's estate at North End which includes a fine house.

Owing to the severe cold, accompanied by high winds on Tuesday of this week the alarm at the Fire Station was struck for no school 2-2-2.

Miss Marion Dodge entertained 19 of her friends by a sleigh ride on Saturday night of last week.

Mr. Harold Burden, who is in the 101st engineer corps "Somewhere in France" received a Christmas Box from some one in Cohasset. As the name of the sender got torn off in passing, leaving only name of town from which it was sent, Mr. Burden found himself unable to thank the kind friend who remembered him and through the medium of this paper extends his thanks and appreciation to the sender.

A splendid meeting was held by the P. T. A. on last Monday afternoon, Feb. 4th, being well attended considering the weather, and the speaker, Miss Helen Hovey of Bradford gave an intensely interesting address, practical in its bearing, to parents and teachers alike. A social followed at the Bates Building.

Miss Helen Miller, a pupil of the Osgood School, gave a recitation at the meeting and Master Edwin Cole played a piano solo.

Sergeant Fred Roche, of Co. K, now stationed at Camp Greene, Charlotte, N. C., is home for a week's furlough.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Lewis of Akron, Ohio, have removed to Cohasset. Both are former residents of the town and have many relatives and friends to welcome them back. Because of the impossibility of getting their furniture freighted here until spring, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis are searching for a furnished home to rent for a season.

The basket ball game played between the Osgood School Girls' Basket ball team and the Plymouth Girls A. A. was a complete victory for the Cohasset team, both games being won by the O. S. B. T.

It is rumored that Mr. Harry Winters has sold his house and land at the Cove to Mr. Manuel Salvador. It is also rumored that Mr. Salvador expects to put up a fine store on these premises when he takes possession. Incidentally Mr. Salvador has a cozy little store now, a and but very hunting for he sells some very necessary commodities like sugar, molasses, karo syrup, etc., as reasonable as you can get them anywhere.

Earle Higgins from Bumpkin Island spent the week end at home with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. Higgins. Earle has been ill with acute bronchitis.

This is a winter to try the mettle of the men who keep our outlying light-houses or patrol our coasts. Capt. Octavious Reamy when ashore last week had to stay overtime four days on shore. The return trip was made with those who accompanied him by taking the L. H. dory from Whitehead in a team over to the Glades in Scituate, launching it and making their way out through 200 or 300 yards of ice cakes to the clear water thence to the Light-house. Verily the stuff of which light-keepers are made must be such as would win them honor medals on battle fields.

An entertainment and social will be given by the Unity Club of the Beechwood Congregational Church on next Monday evening, Feb. 11.

Mr. Chas. Curtis reports foxes very plenty this winter in the Norwell and Hingham wood above Beechwood.

The "Jamb and Sew" Club met with Mrs. James Henry on Thursday of last week. Miss Eleanor Wilbur was the guest of honor. Miss Wilbur was one of the charter members of the club, which numbers mightily, many new members having been added to the list.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hinds (now Katherine Koenig) are having engagements on the birth of a son recently.

Mr. Thomas Wholley, an esteemed and respected citizen of the town, passed away at his home on South Main street on Wednesday of last week, Jan. 20. Funeral took place on Saturday morning, Rev. Fr. Crayton of St. Anthony's Church officiating. Interment will be at the Catholic Cemetery in Hingham. He is survived by a wife and one daughter.

During the Civil War the late S. Frank Treat wrote home, when stationed on Maryland Heights, Jan. 5, 1865—We had all the General's staff up here Christmas in a flag-raising—fired a National Salute of 24 guns." Again in a letter of Feb. 22, 1865, says "Col. L. who he and his brother John belonged to Co. H 1st Mass. H. A. have the honor of raising a flag on the highest peak on Maryland Heights here, 1000 ft. above sea level. We showed Gen. Henry how to unfurl the American ensign and fire a National Salute. Now have raised it the U. S. flag in high except payment. There beats the starry banner."

Mrs. Alice M. wife of Capt. Manuel S. Enos, passed away at her home on Friday morning, Feb. 1, following several months of ill health. Her death at the last came comparatively sudden, however. The funeral took place at St. Anthony's Church Monday morning at 11 o'clock. Rev. Fr. Crayton officiated. Rev. Fr. Cunningham, Fr. Riley and Fr. Flynn officiating and celebrating the requiem mass. Interment was at Scituate. The funeral procession was composed of automobile cortage entering the cemetery from both north and south. Messrs. Joseph Enos, Walter Enos, Kenneth Antoine, Manuel Antoine, Joseph Leonard, Abram Antoine and Alfred Pratt. Mrs. Antoine was born in Cohasset on Margin street 65 years one month ago, and was the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Manuel Antoine. She passed her life here, being educated in our public schools and marrying Capt. Enos in April, 1875, after he died until her death in their home on Elm street. Beside the husband, two sons, Messrs. Chas. and Abram Enos, and four daughters, Mrs. Manuel Leonard and the Misses Lillian, Grace and Ethel Enos. She will be missed by a large number of relatives and friends, to whom she has endeared herself throughout her life.

The Epworth League monthly social was held on Monday evening at the home of Mrs. Margaret Hollis. The next meeting of the Village School P. T. Association will be held on Monday afternoon, Feb. 11. Miss Pauline Foster has arranged a program that will be interesting. The Question Box will be opened. It is expected that a report of the serving of coco to the children will be given. Many of the ladies have given generously of their time for this work, which is appreciated.

No school on Tuesday on account of the extremely cold weather. It was deemed inadvisable to have the children take the barge ride.

Not only a coal, furnace, but almost a wood furnace pertains in Hull. Mr. Bradford Weston is getting out of the woods all that he can find workers to do.

Mr. Robert Bryant also has some wood to sell.

Mr. C. P. Weston is extremely ill. It is reported that there is slight change in his condition.

Vaughn Nickerson has joined the Aviation Corps and expects to report for duty as soon as called. One day this Friday Vaughn increased his muscular strength by coming over to the office of the Hull East Wind and sawing and chopping wood. It is largely due to the efforts of our friends that we have been able to get out the paper.

Mr. Robert Bryant, one of our good brothers in the Rebekah Lodge, gave of his services to saw and chop wood to keep the Hull East Wind office open and the paper going. Mrs. Bryant also has done many acts of kindness in this time of stress and loneliness.

Acts of neighborly kindness are not rare in this town. There are none so ready to respond to any need as are our townspersons. The editorite is deeply indebted to Mr. and Mrs. John E. Rutherford and their little family of four for countless acts of kindness. On two occasions when despite all care the water pipes in her home and office have been frozen, Mr. Rutherford has spent hours thawing them out. Mrs. Rutherford is an ideal mother and is busy with her little family, but always finds time to assist anyone needing it.

The Fuel Committee of the Public Safety Committee obtained coal through the kindness of Mr. Frederick Lane, superintendent of the Nantasket Beach Steamboat Company, who released for use of those without coal many tons of coal.

We are glad to report that Mr. Adrian Dowd, who entered the Homeopathic Hospital in Boston last week and was operated upon for appendicitis, is recovering rapidly and hopes soon to be home. Adrian is one of the best young men and all are glad of his recovery.

Miss Grace E. Dowd has been a guest of friends in Medford the past week and has gone in to see her brother Adrian every day since he has been in the hospital.

Herbert Sylvester, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sylvester of Bayside enlisted in the entered service on Wednesday. The Hill Branch S. A. S. A. P. were pleased to be able to fit out this young man with some warm woolen goods and a comfort kit. Another of our boys of whose whole town is proud.

EUROPE NEEDS FOOD

Food Administration Declares it is an Absolute Sin to Waste Food—Food
Has Become Sacred.

Europe is still sending an insistent call for more food. We must send it if the war is to go on efficiently. If we eat it all we cannot ship it, and the food administration has already tried to picture how much that wheat is needed by people who will starve if they do not get it, the food administration states.

"For the least bit of heedlessness on your part in food conservation some one somewhere in the world must suffer privations," an official statement declares. "The food administration has mastered the problem of America's food in such a way that every ounce of food conserved and kept in the currents of trade goes to an empty stomach in Europe.

"It is an absolute sin to waste food.
Food has become sacred.

"Food means life; it means somebody's life, and you cannot escape responsibility.

"There is no waste of food among the allied nations."

WAR BREAD COSTLY TO BRITISH GOVERNMENT

Every year the British government pays $200,000,000 toward the cost of that nation's war bread. That is the principal reason why English bread prices are lower today to the consumer than in America. Incidentally the British bread is much poorer than the American.

Great Britain has taken over all home grown grain, bought at an arbitrary price, and all imported wheat bought in markets of the world at pre-valing prices. This is turned over to the mills by the government at a price that allows the adulterated war bread of four pounds to sell at 18 cents.
The two pound loaf costs 9 cents, and the one pound loaf sells for 5 cents.

In milling, however, 14 per cent more flour is extracted from the wheat than in America. And there is a compulsory adulteration of 20 per cent and an allowable adulteration of 50 per cent.

Compared with American bread, the British product is only about 65 per cent pure at its best.

In France, under conditions somewhat similar, but with a larger extraction, the four pound loaf sells for 16 cents.

AMERICAN SAVINGS WILL MEASURE WHEAT EXPORTS

We have already exported the whole of the surplus of the 1917 wheat harvest, over and above the normal demands of our own population. It is necessary, therefore, for the food administration to restrict export of wheat so as to retain in the United States sufficient supplies to carry our own people until the next harvest.

Therefore all exports of wheat from now forward are limited only to volume of saving made by the American people in their consumption of wheat and wheat products.

We continued wheat shipments for December as far as our situation allowed, but even with all the conservation made we were still unable to load several hundred thousand tons of foodstuffs urgently required by the allied nations during the month of December alone."

HERBERT HOOVER
WHEAT-CORN YEAST BREAD.

Wheat-corn bread is more nutritious than bread baked with wheat flour alone. Thousands of American families today are using this mixed flour bread, and in so doing are enabling America to provide more wheat flour for the allies. Here's a tested recipe for this bread: Take one and a half cups of milk, water or a mixture of the two; one-half cup compressed yeast, one and a half teaspoons salt, one tablespoon sugar, one tablespoon of fat if desired, one cup cornmeal
and two cups wheat flour.

Put one and a half cups of water,
the cornmeal, salt, sugar and fat (if used) into a double boiler and cook twenty minutes. The water is sufficient only to soften the meal a little.
Allow the meal to cool to about the temperature of the room and add the flour and yeast mixed with the rest of the water. Knead thoroughly, make into loaf, place in pan of standard size, allow to rise until nearly fills the pan and bake 45 or 50 minutes. It is hardly practicable to use a greater percentage of cornmeal than this even in emergencies, for bread so made differs very little from baked mush. Less cornmeal can be used and in such a case the general method given above may be followed.

It is possible to make a yeast raised corn bread without first cooking the cornmeal. In this case not more than one cupful of meal should be used to four cupfuls of flour. In other respects the bread is mixed and baked as in the above recipe.

BIG HERDS GONE

World War Wastes Europe's Meat Supply.

American Stock Raisers Co-operate With Food Administration in Conservation Measures.

It is probable that Europe for many years after the war will look to a great extent to America for its meat supply.

Europe's herds are dwindling under war's demands faster than they can be replenished.

When the German armies retired from occupied portions of France and Belgium approximately 1,800,000 head of cattle were appropriated. This addition virtually safeguarded Germany from cattle shortage other nations now suffer.

In England some 2,400,000 acres of grass lands have by compulsory measures been forced into grain production, thus reducing pasture and hay lands.
A declining scale of maximum meat prices for live cattle was ordained in England, as follows: For September, $17.70 per hundred pounds; October,
$17.28; November and December, $16.08 and for January, $14.40. The evident intent of this measure was to drive the beef animals into market as soon as possible.

According to official French figures, the cattle of France have decreased to a total of 12,341,900 as compared with 14,807,000 in 1913. Today, due to lack of forage principally, France is producing only one gallon of milk where before the war two and one-half gallons were produced.

Meantime the United States food administration has taken steps to conserve our flocks and herds and to increase their numbers. The stock breeders of this country show a disposition to co-operate with the government in this.

For many years it has been a practice among many of the dairy people of this country to kill male calves at birth and in many instances the females if not needed to replenish their herds rather than go to the expense of maturing them into veal. The high prices of meat caused the virtual discontinuance of this killing. Another encouraging fact is 75 per cent of calves killed for veal this year were males.

Somebody has very aptly said that the wars of the world have been won with grease, meaning that bacon and lard have been as essential to success in war as powder, which is true.

The hogs of Europe have been very greatly sacrificed to present day needs.
This makes the American burden all the more heavy and makes doubly essential an increased pork production in this nation. In Italy grain is now forbidden to be fed to hogs. In Denmark under a recent order one-fourth of the hogs were ordered to be killed.
It is estimated that one-half have now been killed.

There have been some violations of
the sugar rulings. Mr. Hoover said recently: "Sales of sugar from 10 to 20 cents per pound have been reported
and followed up vigorously and stopped
and is evidence itself of the prices
at which consumers would have been mucht had we not intervened. We have forfeited wholesalers' licenses in aggravated cases, and we have issued warnings to first offenders in a great
many instances through our local administrators."

Effect on Military Situation.
American sugar stocks could be filled
to normal very soon if ships could be sent to Java, where 250,000 tons of sugar is waiting for shipment. But
the shipping situation is so acute that
the nation cannot spare the eleven
ships needed to transport this sugar.
It would take the boats one year to hull 250,000 tons. In the same time
they could be used for transporting 200,000 soldiers to France.

The food administration believes
that the American public will diminish
its sugar consumption by 10 or 15 per cent when it is made clear that such sugar saving is a patriotic act and
when it is understood that there are plenty of sweeteners available to take
the place of sugar, such as honey or
corn syrup.

Why Shortage Exists.

The three great sugar producing centers of the world are Germany, the West and East Indies. German sugar
is, of course, used at home. The East Indian sugar is unavailable because of the ship shortage.

While U boats made big inroads on
the world's shipping, France and Italy
canceled their self-sustaining sugar
manufacture. England in the meantime cut off from Germany sugar
1,400,000 tons a year—because of the
war. The result has been that the allied nations have been forced to turn
to America and the West Indies for
their sugar.

Even the antinote food control of

Germany has been powerless to prevent surplus titans sales, according to
semi-official reports reaching the United States food administration. Illegal
butter are being made in Germany at prices ranging from $1.75 to $2.25 a pound. Eggs sold contrary to the German food regulations are regularly 10 cents apiece, according
to these reports. And bacon or bacon from $2.25 to $3.25 a pound.

SUGAR CONTROL SAVED MILLIONS

Sugar control has saved the American public $150,000,000, Herbert Hoover, United States food administrator, declared the other day.

He pointed out that sugar was selling for 11 cents a pound last August and that it would have advanced to 20 cents a pound, with the world shortage as a stimulus, had not the food administration secured the co-operation of the refiners and wholesalers and fixed a sugar price that today enables housewives to buy sugar at from 8½ to 9 cents a pound.

"Every 1 cent raise in sugar from September 1 to January 1 means $18, 000,000 to the American consumer," Mr. Hoover said. "Numbers of gentlemen will tell you that 20 cent sugar would have prevailed and the public robbed of $150,000,000 this year if we had not taken these actions." Later Mr. Hoover called attention to the fact that uncontrolled sugar advanced to 30 cents a pound during the Civil War.

France Got Our Sugar.

Today the American public has been alotted 70 per cent of its normal supply. Before the war the average annual household consumption here was 55 pounds a person. In England the annual consumption during the war is 24 pounds, and in France each person is alotted a little over one pound a month.

"In August the French government found itself unable to maintain even this ration," Mr. Hoover declared.
"An appeal was made to America.
France needed 100,000 tons. We agreed to fill this demand and up to December had shipped 85,426 tons. In the meantime an appeal was made to the American public to reduce its sugar consumption, and requests were made to distributors to supply the confectionery and sweet drinks trade with 50 per cent of normal supply.
This has been generally followed, although such regulations were voluntary,
as the food administration had no authority to impose them."

Domestic Price is 8½ to 9 Cents.

Domestic sugar throughout the country is supposed to take a profit of no more than 50 cents a hundred—half a cent a pound on sugar. By reason of food administration regulations, blinding refiners and wholesalers, the retailer is able today to buy sugar at from 8 to 8½ cents a pound. This enables him to sell to the housewife at 8½ to 9 cents a pound.

There have been some violations of
the sugar rulings. Mr. Hoover said
recently: "Sales of sugar from 10 to 20 cents per pound have been reported
and followed up vigorously and stopped
and is evidence itself of the prices
at which consumers would have been mucht had we not intervened. We have
forfeited wholesalers' licenses in aggravated cases, and we have issued
warnings to first offenders in a great
many instances through our local administrators."

Effect on Military Situation.
American sugar stocks could be filled
to normal very soon if ships could be
sent to Java, where 250,000 tons of
sugar is waiting for shipment. But
the shipping situation is so acute that
the nation cannot spare the eleven
ships needed to transport this sugar.
It would take the boats one year to
hull 250,000 tons. In the same time
they could be used for transporting 200,000 soldiers to France.

The food administration believes
that the American public will diminish
its sugar consumption by 10 or 15 per cent when it is made clear that such
sugar saving is a patriotic act and
when it is understood that there are
plenty of sweeteners available to take
the place of sugar, such as honey or
corn syrup.

Why Shortage Exists.

The three great sugar producing centers of the world are Germany, the West and East Indies. German sugar
is, of course, used at home. The East Indian sugar is unavailable because of
the ship shortage.

While U boats made big inroads on
the world's shipping, France and Italy
canceled their self-sustaining sugar
manufacture. England in the meantime cut off from Germany sugar
1,400,000 tons a year—because of the
war. The result has been that the
allied nations have been forced to turn
to America and the West Indies for
their sugar.

Even the antinote food control of

Germany has been powerless to prevent
surplus titans sales, according to
semi-official reports reaching the United States food administration. Illegal
butter are being made in Germany at prices ranging from $1.75 to $2.25 a pound. Eggs sold contrary to the German food regulations are regularly 10 cents apiece, according
to these reports. And bacon or bacon from $2.25 to $3.25 a
pound.

NOT ALTOGETHER GOOD.

Marion's aunt was a visitor at her home and Marion was a much admired and petted little girl. In a burst of affection her aunt said one day, "Marion, you're such a good little girl."
But the sturdy youngster replied,
"Sometimes I am and sometimes I don't."

Deep Breathing.

The secret of voice-production has been lost for more than a hundred years, but it will be found directly and teachers understand how to use the lower abdominal muscles for the raising of the whole of the internal organs of the body and thus causing a steady breath pressure, which is not only the foundation of singing but also the secret of health. Persons threatened with tuberculosis should investigate deep breathing.—Exchange.

A Dog's Advantage.

Scientists say that a dog's possession of a sixth sense is proved by the fact that a dog carried far from home
will return directly when it escapes.
Well, for one thing, comments the Louisville Courier-Journal, the dog is not confused by rural directions for taking the right road.

NOT IMPRESSED WITH LAMP.

A little girl was told the story of Aladdin and his magic lamp. Later she was shown pictures of it. The spirit of the lamp was most hideous, with a large mouth and ugly horns.
After a prolonged stare the child said:
"Gee, I'd never wish for that."

ADVERTISE IN THIS PAPER!

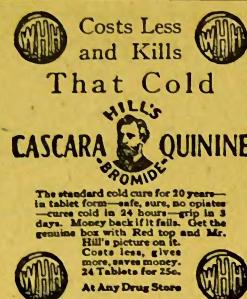

The one-piece frock of cloth, for street wear, worn with a separate coat when the weather is cold, has run a very close second to the tailored coat suit for more than a year. And the one-piece afternoon gown of satin, silk or crepe georgette, for dressy wear, has outdistanced everything else, in point of popularity. Both these are shown in immense variety of design and decoration. The two examples pictured above are selected from among many that employ soutache braid or braid effects in their garniture. Both are similar in construction.

The frock of serge at the right has been developed in the other popular woven, the straight, long-waisted bodice and plaited skirt being style features of wide application. In the details of the sleeves, girdle and decoration this model has claims peculiar to its own. One reason for the success of frocks of this kind lies in the absence of a waistline; for the management of the waistline appears to have given American dressmakers more trouble than any other part of their work.

In this model the skirt is box-pleated, extending to the ankles, with plaiting in to stay. The sleeves are of the serge set into a plain underbodice and divided below the elbow, where the fairly full upper sleeve is joined to a

FOOD CONTROLLER OF CANADA GIVES WARNING

Food Production Should Be Increased at All Cost.

In his letter to the public on the 1st of January, Hon. W. J. Hanna, Canada's Food Controller, says:—

"Authoritative information has reached me that food shortage in Europe is terribly real, and only the sternest resolve on the part of the producers, and equally stern economies on the part of all as consumers, can possibly save the situation."

"France last year had a crop between one-third and one-half that of a normal year. Women did the work of draught animals in a determined effort to make the impoverished soil of France produce every possible ounce of food. They now look to us to make up their deficiency of essential supplies."

"The harvest in Italy was far below normal and will require much larger supplies to feed her people until next harvest."

"It is impossible for the allies to spare many cargo carriers to transport foodstuff from India, Australia, New Zealand and even the Argentine Republic. This means that the allied nations are practically dependent upon North America to supply them with the food which must be forthcoming if terrible suffering is to be avoided and the fighting efficiency of the armies maintained."

"On December 1, the United States had not a single bushel of wheat for export, after allowance was made for domestic requirements on the basis of normal consumption, and the United States Food Administration is endeavoring to bring about a reduction of 20 per cent in home consumption of wheat and flour. This would release 100,000,000 bushels for export, but the Allies will require nearly five times that amount before the 1918 harvest."

"Canada is the only country in the world, practically accessible to the Allies under present conditions of shipping shortage, which has an actual exportable surplus of wheat after allowance for normal home requirements. The surplus today is not more than 110,000,000 bushels. A reduction of 20 per cent in our normal consumption would save an additional 10,000,000 bushels for export. The outlook for production of food stuffs in Europe next year is distinctly unfavorable."

"Such is the situation—grave beyond anything that we thought possible a few months ago. Unless our people are aroused to a realization of what the world shortage means to us, to our soldiers and to our Allies, and of the terrible possibilities which it entails, disaster is inevitable."

"Production, too, must be increased to the greatest possible extent. Present war conditions demand extraordinary efforts, and every man, woman, boy or girl who can produce food has a national duty to do so."

"I am confident that when the people of this country realize that the food situation is of utmost gravity they will willingly adjust themselves to the necessities of the case and make whatever sacrifices may be required. The call which is made upon them is in the name of the Canadian soldiers at the front, the allied armies, and the civilian populations of the allied nations who have already made food sacrifices to an extent little realized by the people of this country."

"Here is an appeal made by a man upon whom rests the great responsibility of assisting in providing food for the allies and the soldiers at the front, who are fighting the battles in mud and blood. It cannot be ignored. At home we are living in luxury and extravagance inclined to idleness and forgetfulness. This must cease. We must save and produce. Our lands must be tilled no matter where it may be in Canada or the United States. It is our duty to cultivate. Splendid opportunities in the United States are open for further cultivation of lands. Western Canada also offers opportunities in high producing lands at low prices. Decide for yourself where you can do the most good, on land in the United States or in Canada, and get to work quickly.—Advertisement."

"Come on," said the first flea, as he hopped from the brown bear's foreleg; "come over and join me at a short game of golf."

"Golf!" exclaimed the second flea, hastily taking a bite of hymen; "where in the realm of Barum are we going to play golf?"

"Why," said the first flea, "over on the lynx, of course."—Jack o' Lantern.

HINGHAM HAPPENINGS

A fire at the home of Rev. Cornish Lincoln street, on Tuesday between 4 and 5 o'clock, destroyed the ell. The water was obtained for extinguishing the fire from the railroad station, all the hydrants being frozen.

The fifth annual meeting of the Niagara No. 8 Association was held at the Central Fire Station, Tuesday evening, Jan. 22, 1918. The following officers were elected: President, Capt. Seth Sprague; secretary and treasurer, Frank W. Reed; vice-president, Capt. Arthur M. Bibby; Capt. Herbert O. Bates, Capt. James W. Coughlan; Capt. Herbert G. Jones, Capt. Wm. G. Maguire; Capt. Oliver Tower. Executive Committee, Eber L. Ripley, George W. King, Arthur M. Bibby, Herbert C. Jones, Harry F. Zahn, Oliver Tower.

After the business meeting the members and guests partook of an old-fashioned fireman's collation. The usual turkey being passed this year, the committee felt that the conservation spirit should be observed.

The attendance was not up to the regular standard, it being a rough, stormy night, and the "Boys" are not as young physically as they used to be, but the same cheerful spirit was in evidence through the meeting that has been characteristic of these gatherings in past years.

No regular entertainment was prepared with the family. Among the good things provided for the table that day was a dressing usually prepared with roast chicken. She was fond of this, and wanted a second helping. She had heard it spoken of as dressing when it was passed the first time, but had forgotten just what to call for, so she simply said, in asking for it: "Please pass the clothes."

The association decided to change the date of the annual meetings from January to October, the extreme weather of mid-winter being too strenuous for some of the older members to attend the meetings.

A short memorial service was held in the memory of Fred C. Blair and Libbie Studley.

The association has a set of records extending from the year 1812 to 1913, which included accounts of meetings, etc., of the Precedent Engine Co., Niagara Engine Co., and Niagara Hose Co. The guests of the evening were District Chief Geo. H. Downing, Ralph D. Laurie, Jas. H. Kimball, Jas. M. Kimball.

The house at Centre Hingham, owned by Mrs. Sarah J. Gardner and occupied by Mr. Kadish, a junk dealer, again was partly destroyed by fire on Monday.

The Girls' Friendly Society of the Episcopal Church held its meeting on Tuesday evening.

To strictly observe heatless Mondays Dorothy Bradford Chapter, No. 135, O. E. S., voted to change the date of meeting to Wednesday during the term of the February and March holidays to conserve. After the regular meeting on Wednesday of this week a Valentine Social was enjoyed. The committee in charge were Miss Marion W. Stinson, Mrs. Bradford, Mrs. Edna Rich, Mr. Edward W. Jones.

Mrs. C. F. Godfrey has been visiting friends in New York and Brooklyn.

Mrs. J. Wintrop Spooner is entertaining her grandson, Mr. Loring Walton.

From Pumpkin Island comes the report that Edward F. Long is on the sick list.

Miss Helen Sibley of South Hingham has been entertaining her friend, Miss Grace Eaton.

This evening the First Baptist Church will tender a reception to its new pastor, Rev. Randolph P. Tofford, at 8 o'clock in the church vestry, to which members and friends are invited.

Mr. Hugh Smith of Hingham Centre has been transferred to the Quincy Unit of the N. E. T. and T. Co. as time clerk.

The flag flown by the local Carpenters' Union from their hall is adorned with 24 stars.

The property formerly owned by Mr. H. Alfred Raymond has been bought for occupancy by Mr. Dennis W. Higgins. The property consists of a four-acre tract of land, a seven-room house and outbuildings; situated on Union street.

Feb. 16 Portia Smiley will give a cooking demonstration in war recipes at the John A. Andrew School for the benefit of the Surgical Dressing Committee.

One Hingham boy, Joseph M. Corrill of Leavitt St., Hingham, was among the many apprentices accepted by the United States Shipping Board at the Custom House, Wednesday, for training on the training ship Calvus. Austin. Several hundred Americans, 17 to 27 years old, are training on the ship, which has its base at Boston, to be cooks, bakers, bakers, water tenders, Marine and stewards in the Merchant Marine and are being paid $20 a month by Uncle Sam while training.

Mr. and Mrs. George L. Brett will be located at 249 Baystall street, Boston, for a few weeks.

Wilbur Rowell, armorer at the State Armory, has received a postal from the Army. He is a member of the 101st U. S. Infantry, reporting himself and the rest of the boys as "all fine" under date of Jan. 10.

Mrs. Mary Wherry of Eldridge court, 10, has received a postal from the Ladies' Benevolent Society.

Mrs. Maud E. Wright, associate grand matron of the O. E. S., assisted by Mrs. Mary Payzant, deputy grand matron, installed the following officers of the Rexmore Chapter O. E. S. No. 103: Alice Kent, W. M.; Fred Rand, W. P.; Alice Chandler, associate matron; Nellie M. Rand, sec.; S. Anna Ewell, treasurer; Maria Flavel, conductor; Catherine Needham, ass. com.; Mrs. Anna Wood, chaplain; Mrs. Irene Burfitt, warden; Ruth Mrs. Mary Carey; Esther Mrs. Newcome; Martha, Miss S. Ella Daunon; Cleota, Mrs. Hannah Ewell. A large number of members and several visitors were present.

The members of Tea Rock chapter, O. E. S., held their council and regular meeting with Mrs. George Baker Monday P. M. Several historical papers were read. Next meeting will be with Mrs. Herbert Chandler, March 3, 1918.

Ralph W. Ewell cut his knee while chopping wood near "Chandler's Bog" last Friday. The Doctor was obliged to take two stitches.

Mr. George Porter has returned to his work after an attack of tonsillitis. There are several cases of chicken pox in town.

Mrs. Lena Bager is improving but is not able to leave the hospital yet.

Mr. Henry T. Damon is reported as very ill.

Mrs. Granville Damon has been confined to the house for several weeks.

Some of the summer people are talking of returning to their homes as they think they can keep warmer in Marshfield with wood than in the city with no coal.

Book Proves a Life-Saver.

Mark Twain's "The Innocents Abroad" once saved a life—according to the word of a grateful husband which Twain related in one of his letters appearing in Harper's Magazine. He said "His wife owed her life to me; hurt in the Chicago fire, and lay menaced with death a long time, but 'The Innocents Abroad' kept her mind in a cheerful attitude, and so, with the doctor's help for the body, she pulled through." In the same letter Twain says that Col. Fred Grant and General Sherman told him they used "The Innocents Abroad" as their guide-book when they were on their travels.

"SCOUT DADDIES" ARE IN DEMAND.

A citizens' meeting was held in Clapp Memorial, East Weymouth, Thursday night, January 30, in the interest of the Boy Scout Movement. The affair was arranged by the Old Colony Council, of which Alfred J. Hixon of Braintree is president.

Hon. Joseph Belcher, ex-representative from Randolph, gave a strong address on the duty of citizenship toward the boys. President Hixon presided and National Field Commissioner Whiting from New York spoke.

The purpose of the meeting was to present to the people of the entire district the pressing needs of the movement for men to serve on committees, to become scout leaders and to back up the work by subscribing ten dollars a year toward the Council's budget.

"We want every man in the old fashioned way to realize his responsibility for every other man's boy," said Commissioner Whiting in his address. "It is not enough to safeguard and provide for the development of our own sons. Every man is responsible for every boy in every part of the community. To meet this responsibility the Council now offers you an opportunity to become active in furthering the Scout movement in this district. All those who wish will be given an opportunity to become a 'Boy Scout Daddy' and as such to contribute to the success of the war-time efforts. The nation's greatest natural resource is our boys, but they need developing and protecting."

"Juvenile crime in this state has increased 65 per cent during the past two years because of the war conditions."

"We cannot break in the scouts without an executive on the job day and night to teach, demonstrate and assist. We also need hundreds of committee workers if we are to meet the demands which the war conditions and the government has placed upon us."

It was also pointed out at the meeting that the Council already has some money pledged for the next two years, but it is not enough to carry on the work properly. An investment of ten dollars in the boys of this section, it was stated, will bring returns a thousand per cent in value in the form of daily good turns by the thousand or more boys who will become scouts and adopt the oath. The scout oaths read:

"On my honor I will do my best:

1. To do my duty to God and my country;

2. To help other people at all times;

3. To keep myself physically strong, mentally awake and morally straight."

The local movement for enrolling as "Boy Scout Daddies" is spreading and it is believed enough will respond to enable them to enlarge the work of the Council until every boy in the towns from Hull to Canton will be permitted to enjoy and benefit by the scout activities.

Who in Hull will become the first "Scout Daddy"?

One of the most interesting features of the meeting was the exposition of scouting by boy scouts from various parts of the old colony district. Their work at first aid, bandaging, knot tying and signalling was especially well done and showed the value of the scout training.

Many Humming Birds.

Seventeen species of humming birds are summer visitors in the United States. These winter from southern Florida to Central America. Thousands of humming bird skins are exported annually from Brazil, Venezuela and Gualana to be used in the making of ornaments.

English as She Is Spoke.

The wife of a workman in the Midlands (England) was describing a quarrel between two other women, and her final comment was as follows: "If I'd said 'to 'er what 'er said to 'er' I'd have killed 'er or 'er 'er!"

Many Tunnels and Caves.

In England there are hundreds of ancient buildings which possess their secret passages, and during excavations in London long-forgotten tunnels are often encountered. Underneath Linsmore castle, Ireland, one of the seats of the duke of Devonshire, are one or two curious secret tunnels leading to spacious caves in which skeletons and uniforms have been found.

PUBLIC HEARING BEFORE SCHOOL COMMITTEE.

The public hearing before the school committee granted to petitioners on Monday afternoon at the Hull Village School was well attended by residents of the town, notably the Allerton-Bayside-Waveland district, where the petition was filed. The question of transportation came up for discussion. That there are matters for adjustment and improvement in the transportation of children from this section to the Hull Village School was brought up by speeches by Messrs. C. F. Packard, John Glawson, J. E. Rudderham, C. V. Anton, Mrs. Allen, James Walsh, John G. Clark, and Mrs. Henry B. Flint, school committee.

Mr. Packard contended that the matter was left to the action of the school committee to rectify what is wrong. A. J. Landry, optometrist, spoke and the matter was referred to the school committee to rectify what is wrong. A. J.
